Press Search For 20 Lost On Downed Plane

Fail To Find B-29 Which Landed On Sea Near Bermuda

HAMITON, Bermuda, Nov. 17—(AP)—The biggest peacetime air rescue search in history was underway today for a lost B-29 bomber which ran out of fuel and crashlanded in the sea somewhere near Bermuda yesterday. Twenty U. S. airmen were aboard.

Nearly 100 Air Force, Navy and Coast guard planes from bases all along the Atlantic seaboard crisscrossed above Bermuda's surrounding waters hoping for a sight of the stricken bomber or bobbing liferafts.

First search patrols yesterday afternoon were fruitless.

The last word from the Superfortress, whose navigation instruments failed on a flight to England, was a radio message: Going to ditch in five minutes.

After that message yesterday morning a U. S. Coast Guard vessel heard weak SOS signals—spurring hopes that the crewmen had taken to rubber life rafts equipped with automatic wireless distress signalers.

The plane, part of a B-29 group enroute to England from March air base, California, lost its way when its radio navigation equipment failed and it encountered bad weather. U. S. officials at Kindley air base here thought it went down 150 miles southwest or northeast of Bermuda.

Rescue planes came from nine American bases. A B-29 group returning from England, and another enroute there from California, also were drafted into the search. The missing bomber was from the second squadron of the 22nd bombardment group.

The plane, carrying five officers and 15 enlisted men, was commanded by Lieut. Col. John Grable, Jr., of March air base.

"OLD MAN WINTER" makes a fierce appearance in Buffalo, N. Y., as he arrives bearing a record snowfall of 17 inches in rural areas and eight inches in the city, orphaning autos on city streets and delaying all air, train and road traffic.

T/Sgt. Frank Schmidt Of Negley Survives California Crash

STOCKTON, Calif., Nov. 17—(AP)—Two airforce Superforts collided 26,000 feet above Stockton at midnight. One fell in flames. The tail of the other fell off and it crashed in the mud.

Four of the 22 men were saved.

Seven were found dead in the wreckage.

Eleven are missing.

Detailed checking eliminated one survivor reports by Lodi, Calif., police. The four survivors—all at the Navy annex of the Stockton supply depot after treatment for minor injuries—are:

Lt. Warren F. Sharrock, whose home, ironically, is only 26 miles east of Stockton in the Sierra foothills.

Pvt. Keith R. Burns, 19, Boise, Ida., apparently the only survivor of the burning plane.

T/Sgt. Frank D. Schmidt, Negley, Ohio.

Sgt. Robert S. Kluge, 26, Spokane.

Bodies Recovered

The sheriff's office field party radioed three bodies had been taken from the plane that burned on a McDonald island levee on the San Joaquin river in the delta nine miles west of here.

State Highway Patrolman Bill Alott said four bodies were taken from the plane that crashed six feet deep into the mud on the ridge tract two miles north and across the San Joaquin.

The wings of this plane were intact, but the tail assembly had collapsed.

A radio from the field party at this plane ordered all spectators cleared from the area because of high octane gasoline fumes.

Hamilton field, 25 miles north of San Francisco, said the plane that burned was from the 326th squadron. The other was from the 325th. Both were part of the 92nd bombardment group at Spokane, Wash., air force base.

First definite word of the crash, in a fog, came from one of the survivors, Lt. Sharrock. The lieutenant staggered into Edward Kenyon's King island fishing resort bleeding from a head injury.

"The other plane ran smack into us," he gasped.

The Kenyons heard the crash. They were out looking for the flames in the fog when Sharrock arrived.

Soon afterward the San Joaquin sheriff's office reported finding two enlisted men alive. They were Pvt. Burns and T/Sgt. Schmidt.

A few minutes later a gunner called into the sheriff's office, too excited to give his name. He said he had bailed out of one of the planes.

Highway patrolmen and sheriff's deputies from four counties circled for nearly three hours across the fields and streams of the delta country before they found the wreckage of both planes.

The still burning craft from the 326th squadron was sighted first. The bodies of its soldier crewmen were charring in the blaze. The last four of its serial numbers—6364—were the only marks of identification.

Persons who said they heard the airmen discussing their collision reported the fliers said five of the planes were flying in a single formation when one got out of line.

"And that was it," one of them reportedly added.

Christmas Seal Sales To Begin

Leetonia Doctor To Head Campaign

The 1949 Christmas seals will be seen in almost every Columbiana county home next week as the County Public Health League has prepared 30,000 seal sale letters which will be mailed Monday.

With 85 per cent of the drive funds earmarked for use within Columbiana county 15 township chairmen are again spurring efforts for the drive. One new township chairman, Mrs Helen McCall of Rogers will assist in the drive in Middleton township.

Dr. Paul H. Beaver of Leetonia, county Christmas seal sale chairman, said today more than 10,000 chest X-rays were given in the county last year. In addition a health education program is carried on through the schools and talks have been given before community groups including granges and P. T. A.

The league is anxious to explain the activities of the tuberculosis control program before any group and a speaker may be secured by contacting the office in Lisbon.

No Goal Set

No specific goal has been set this year, but the chairmen and league officers hope to top last year's drive proceeds of $25,500

U. S. Closes Its Consulate In Chungking As Reds Advance

CHUNGKING, China, Nov. 17—(UP)—The United States closed its consulate and information service office in the Nationalist capital of Chungking today as Chinese Communist troops drew closer from three directions.

U. S. Vice Consul J. W. Rozier also confirmed that the American consulate in Kunming, capital city of Yunnan province 400 miles southwest of here, had been closed.

Latest reports reaching here said Communist troops continued to push forward from points directly east, south and northeast of Chungking.

Official military sources claimed Nationalist troops had recaptured Pangshui, 75 miles east of Chungking. The ministry of defense had not disclosed that the Communists had taken the city.

Communist forces to the south of Chungking were reported driving toward Tsunyi, 125 miles from Chungking and 200 miles from captured Kweyang.

Another Red column was reported driving toward Wahnsien, 135 miles northeast of Chungking.

A military spokesman said the nationalist air base on Samcho island near the Portuguese territory of Macao was under heavy Communist attack.

American affairs in Chungking were handed over to M. C. Gillett, British consul general.

The American action came as Communist forces fanned out north, south and west of captured Kweiyang, 200 miles from Chungking.

Seek Consul's Release

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17—(UP)—Great Britain has joined the United States in efforts to get the Chinese Communists to release Angus Ward, the American consul, from his Mukden, Manchuria, prison cell, it was disclosed today.

Authoritative sources said the move "offers some hope of success."

L. Steventon, the British consul at Mukden, moved into the case voluntarily. There is a general understanding that Britain will look after U. S. interests in Communist China.

Files For Recount At Summitville

EAST LIVERPOOL, Nov. 17—The county election board today set a recount Tuesday night at 8 in returns from the Summitville mayoralty race that showed the incumbent defeated by a two-vote margin by a write-in candidate.

Mayor Frederick H. Johnson asked the recount Wednesday afternoon in an attempt to upset the 33-31 vote by which he apparently lost to Everett Hayes, a truck driver, in Nov. 8 non-partisan balloting.

The Summitville recount was the only one that developed before the deadline yesterday, although there was at least one other close finish. In the race for Liverpool township clerk, Simon C. Hall, the incumbent, defeated Harold D. Putt, 207-203.

Frank O'Hanlon, clerk, said the election board expects to complete the recount quickly, as the village's lone precinct had a total vote of only 68.

Driver Convicted In Death Of Author

ATLANTA, Nov. 17—(AP)—A jury ignored Hugh D. Gravitt's cry that he was being persecuted and convicted him of involuntary manslaughter in the traffic accident death of Margaret Mitchell.

The jury reached its verdict against the slim, 29-year-old former cab driver in less than an hour yesterday. It recommended that he be sent to jail from 12 to 18 months for the death of the world-famed author of "Gone With the Wind."

Truman Delays Coal Decision

Ponders Two Steps To Avert Tie-Up

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17 —(AP)—The White House indicated today that President Truman might wait a day or so longer before trying to head off a new coal strike.

Up until this morning, all signs had pointed to a presidential move today to keep the strike from starting again in two weeks.

Then, Presidential Press Secretary Charles G. Ross told reporters that he did not expect any development during the day. He said he had "no forecast" on what might happen in the next few days.

There was still a possibility that Mr. Truman would give some hint of his intentions at a late afternoon news conference.

The President reportedly is considering two possible peace plans.

(1) To ask Union Leader John L. Lewis and the soft coal operators to submit their dispute to a special fact-finding board empowered to make recommendations. If accepted, this plan would have the effect of delaying a strike while the board studies the dispute—possibly for 60 days.

(2) To invoke the Taft-Hartley law. This provides for a fact-finding board study and for a

Ford Not Altering New Car Prices

DETROIT, Mich., Nov. 17—(UP)—Ford Motor Co. said today that retail prices on its new 1950 models would be unchanged.

The new Fords, practically the same in appearance as the 1949 model, will go on display in dealer showrooms across the nation tomorrow.

Ford's decision not to reduce prices dimmed hopes of price cuts throughout the automotive industry.

Nash cut prices $73 to $140 when it unveiled its new model less than two months ago but there was little indication that other manufacturers would follow suit. General Motors, planning to reveal its new lines about the first of the year, has made no announcement about prices.

Deanna Durbin Wants To Act Grown Up; Studio Cold To Idea

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 17—(UP)—Deanna Durbin, who hasn't made a movie for more than a year, denied today that she's through with pictures.

She's been sitting at home, she explained, because her studio gave her the cold shoulder.

Miss Durbin just wound up her contract with Universal-International, the studio she pulled out of the red as a singing moppet. But for the last 15 months, she said, her bosses didn't give her anything to do.

"A year ago they told me I would do a picture in Italy," said the one-time child prodigy, breaking a press silence of a year. "I was pleased. But I never saw a script or heard another word."

The disappearance of Deanna had movie-goers wondering if she were washed up in Hollywood. But she says she'll be back in circulation when she finds a script that doesn't try to "show me as a 13-year-old."

"I'm tired of playing the little girl story. I'm a woman now," said the actress, who shed her second husband, Felix Jackson, right after she shed her studio. "I'll be 28 in December. I can't run around playing forever the little Miss Fix-It who bursts into song.

Long Distance Truck Drivers To Strike

CLEVELAND, Nov. 17—(AP)—The AFL Teamsters union has set a strike deadline for 6 o'clock tonight for more than 7,000 long distance truck drivers in Ohio.

The union is negotiating with employers on demands for a 25-cent-hourly pay increase and a company-paid health and welfare program.

William J. Welch, vice president of Local 407, said:

"So far the employers have offered us nothing. We have given them until 2 p. m. to make us a reasonable offer on which further negotiations can be conducted.

"There definitely will be a strike at 6 p. m. unless they come up with something we can discuss."

Violates Game Laws, Draws $4,584 Fine

CIRCLEVILLE, O., Nov 17 (AP)—A Boston industrialist was lodged in jail here yesterday after an officer found 15 hen pheasants, six quail and one Hungarian partridge in his party's hunting bag. None is on Ohio's game bird list.

It cost him $4,584.01.

The industrialist is H. Warr Beard, 48, identified by Game Protector Irvin Patrick as president of the Mayflower Wayside Furniture Co., Inc., of West Newton, Mass.

Patrick said he took Beard into custody near New Holland in western Pickaway county.

T/Sgt. Frank B. Schmidt, 25, of Negley, one of the four known survivors of the double B-29 Superfort air crash near Stockton, Calif., yesterday, is a veteran of 52 combat missions over Italy during the war.

His mother, Mrs. Eugene Schmidt, Sr. of Negley, was awaiting a call from her son this morning. She said simply, "he'll call, because he knows I've been worrying." Her concern started to grow last night when she heard the wrecked planes were from a Spokane air base.

Others in the Schmidt family who were frantic with worry when they heard of the crash include two brothers, Clifford, at home and Eugene, Jr., a coach at Mayfield Heights in Cleveland, a sister, Mrs. Ed Dagarin of East Palestine and father, Eugene Schmidt, Sr.

He was home three months ago on furlough.

It Won't Be Lausche

It had been surmised that Governor Frank J. Lausche wouldn't be a candidate for the Democratic senatorial nomination in 1950. He has made his position clear in a telegram to an official of the A. F. L. United Automobile Workers union—not to be confused with the C. I. O. union in the auto industry: "To put all conjecture at rest, I will not be a candidate for the U. S. senate."

This leaves the field open to an indeterminate number of other potential candidates, none of whom can hold a candle to the governor as a vote-getter. In fact, none of them can hold a match at this time, though it remains to be seen what kind of a campaign can be developed by labor leaders looking for someone willing to run against Senator Taft. They plan to invade Ohio next year with such funds and the best mud-slinging equipment that money can buy.

Their search has been made no easier by Governor Lausche's unequivocal position, because it shows which way the wind is blowing—and the direction is contrary to the anti-Taft strategy of the labor unions. They can infer from the governor's attitude that as Ohio's No. 1 Democrat he isn't interested in playing their game; that he may head the Ohio Democratic ticket as a candidate for governor but isn't going to head the anti-Taft drive of the people trying to take over the Democratic party. They'll have to find another boy for that job.

Whoever the candidate may be, he's going to have his work cut out for him in the campaign. He will be in the race with more strings attached to him than a doll in a puppet show. Though he nominally will be the candidate of the Democratic party, he actually will be the candidate of the labor unions which are taking over the party in Ohio and elsewhere. Perhaps Governor Lausche, in turning down that kind of a proposition, merely was remembering what Ohio Democrats learned long ago—that he's a hard man to tie down. He and the men leading the anti-Taft crusade wouldn't have hit it off. They want someone they can boss. That's why they hate Senator Taft. It's why they'd soon be hating Frank J. Lausche. There's no room in their kind of politics for politicians who do their own thinking.

Pearl Theory In Business

Business prospectors are predicting a gold rush of reaction from the latest disturbance to the production and distribution of steel. Business, they believe, will be stimulated by the rush to make up ground lost through interruptions of steel supplies.

This is the pearl theory of economics—the theory that believes wealth comes from irritation. Under the pearl theory, business is "good" whenever there is a war, the greatest of all economic dislocations. The same theory has a perverse application in behavior of the stock market, which reacts just about as favorably to bad news as good news.

Natural pearls, as every school child knows, are produced when a foreign substance becomes lodged in an oyster, setting up an irritation which causes the oyster to produce something of value by a process of instinct. Pearls also are produced artificially by implanting foreign substances in oysters.

How long it may be until economic planners are tempted to set up artificial irritations to produce pearls is guesswork, but certainly it won't be much longer. The obvious way to make a graph of business activity show a sharp rise is to cause it to show a sharp decline first. The whole thing's as simple as hitting oneself on the head with a hammer because it feels good when you stop, which is about as profound as the current crop of economic planners can be expected to get in their quest of fool-proof prosperity. They are, after all, the same geniuses who contend that the way to make things hum is to go deeper into debt.

The Ghost Of OPA

It now appears that the rumor of a coffee bean shortage, which has had coffee addicts staring nervously into the bottom of their second cup at breakfast, originated outside Brazil, where most of the coffee comes from. There's a strong suspicion that speculators in coffee future may have remembered how buying hysteria worked during OPA.

One morning a housewife would hear about an impending shortage of coffee. That afternoon she would buy an extra pound of coffee at the market. A week later, the supermarket would be out of coffee and people would be using coffee to curry favors. A technique of consumer hysteria was developed which could produce a shortage of anything under the sun within a week's time.

The latest word is that there's no imminent shortage of coffee. But great hoards of coffee have been bought up by hysterical consumers. Prices have been forced up, which suits the speculators. What worked during OPA is still good. The best way to make consumers buy more is to threaten a shortage. Even the government might learn something from this—such as the rumor that there's going to be a shortage of wheat.

Guarding Your Health

By DR. HERMAN BUNDESON

It is becoming more and more apparent that hepatitis, or inflammation of the liver, is a frequent disorder. Often, due to a virus infection, this disease is commonly accompanied by jaundice or a greenish-yellow discoloration of the skin.

Sometimes, however, this sign is not present and, in these cases, the patient is likely to shrug off the attack as "a touch of 'flu.'" This is unfortunate because neglect to obtain proper treatment carries with it the danger that the condition may become chronic and that the liver will be permanently damaged.

Begins with Fever

Many suggestions, both as to recognition of this form of hepatitis and its treatment, can be gained from a recent study of a group of patients who showed no signs of jaundice. In practically all of these cases, the condition began with fever. Many patients had headache in the front part of the head or around the eyes. Loss of appetite and a feeling of fullness in the abdomen were present in all cases. There was soreness and a dull, aching sensation in the abdomen, and often, actual pain under the edge of the ribs on the right side.

Excessive gas formation and enlargement of the lymph glands in the neck and in other parts of the body are other symptoms which showed up in some patients. There also seemed to be some enlargement of the liver. Tests of the liver action showed that, in these cases, the function of the liver was impaired, that is, that the liver was not carrying out its action properly.

Bed Rest Required

In treating these patients, bed rest was required. Getting out of bed too early made the symptoms worse. In about one-third of the patients, the use of a diet rich in protein foods, such as meat and milk, with a reduction in the amount of fat, together with rest in bed, produced a complete cure within a period of from five to eight weeks. In another third of the cases, the symptoms continued for from 20 weeks to five months, while in the remaining third the symptoms cleared up in about three weeks.

In those patients, in whom the condition lasted a long time, evidence of permanent liver damage was often present.

In cases of hepatitis, it is important that the diagnosis be made early so that treatment can be started at once with a high protein diet and bed rest, since these measures seem to shorten the course of the disease.

Roving Reports

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK What makes the tired business man tired?

"His office," said Leonard Hutton, interior decorator.

"A man's office should be like his den at home — comfortable and relaxing.

"But what is the average office like? It has an oversize desk—that's to show he's an important man — a swivel chair, two stiff chairs for visitors, and a leather-covered sofa. On the wall is a map of the United States — with flags stuck in it to impress his customers with how many salesmen he has across the country."

Hal Boyle

Hutton clucked disapprovingly.

"It's too sober — too dull. It gives him no lift. Badly designed rooms make people tired and nervous—but they don't realize why. A man can work more efficiently, and make a better impression on his associates, if his office doesn't look like an office."

Hutton is full of concrete suggestions to put a little umph in the American business office. He feels it should have some music, a 'hidden' bar for entertaining prospects, no glaring lights, and colorful draperies that can be drawn automatically—by pushing a button.

"And no wall maps—good pictures or personalized photographs," he said. "Nor do you have to have stiff heavy chairs just because some crazy guy decided gothic was a good style.

"You could have comfortable chairs arranged in a friendly seating group. Conference tables are no good. Who ever felt at ease at a conference table?"

If the business man must have files in his office, Hutton said, they would be recessed into the walls.

"Files only remind the visitor he ought to be back in his own office working. How can you sell him an idea if he isn't at ease?"

HUTTON THINKS the tired business man doesn't fare much better when he goes home to rest from his dingy office.

"He comes into a living room 'decorated' exactly in a what-do-they-use-these-days manner. Then the poor man has to sit in some uncomfortable reproductions of some ugly style that never was a style but just a period.

"There is no place for him to lie down, because his wife won't let him rest on her good living room sofa or on the bed—the bedspread might get wrinkled.

"So the man's unhappy at his office, unhappy at home — and that's why so much business is done in restaurants and cocktail bars."

Hutton, who recently decorated the Austrian embassy in Washington, is of German birth. He has a shop on "Mink Lane" — fancy East 57th st. He believes Americans concentrate too much on decorating their homes to please or impress their friends rather than to satisfy their own taste.

"They do so much to make automobiles comfortable here — and so little to make homes comfortable," he said.

"It is amazing in a country of electric toasters, bottle warmers and refrigerators that the home has been neglected to such an extent people believe they have to buy furniture just because it is old."

Clients make odd requests of decorators. Hutton hasn't lined any walls with fur, but he has done a number in solid leather.

"Once I decorated a home for a wealthy man in Monte Carlo," he recalled. "He lived on a cliff. As a joke I suggested he ought to pump salt water from the Mediterranean into his swimming pool.

"'Good idea,' he said. "And he did it."

City Council Probes Paving

Columbiana Street Poses Problems

COLUMBIANA, Nov. 17—Paving of Firestone ave. was again brought up at the meeting of city council Tuesday evening due to property complications at the south end of the proposed improvement, near East Salem st.

F. W. Powers of Negley is the owner of a strip fronting 190 feet on Firestone ave., which is of insufficient depth for a housing project. He has offered to sell to owners of adjoining ground for a rearrangement of lots to front on Firestone ave., but no deal has been made.

The Powers strip as it stands lacks the value for a paving assessment.

C. F. Moser, Elmer Detwiler, Sr., Charles Koch and Roy Harrold, representing the petitioners, who own nearly all the foot frontage on the street, were again before council in behalf of the petition.

They were advised to prepare a new petition leaving out the properties south of Walnut st., extending west toward N. Main st. only part way through the E. C. Basinger property and taking in the remander of the street north to Sixth st., a distance of a little more than 1,100 feet.

The petitioners did not signify whether they would take any further action.

Drainage Problem Up

Melvin Wenderoth called attention of council to drainage conditions along an alley west from West st. and north past his property on N. Pearl st. Council informed him that the matter would be referred to the street department.

Council voted to pay the expenses of Fire Chief Harvey Hisey and his assistant, Ernest Werner, to the recent fire safety convention in Columbus.

An ordinance was passed transferring $2,000 from the electric light fund to the water fund.

Andrew Bretz, who is carrying out a housing development on Howard st., a new street extending east from S. Main st. to Fairfield ave., asked the co-operation of council in making the new street more passable. The street committee will inspect the situation.

To Beautify Dump

In connection with plans to improve the appearance of the municipal dump on Route 14, northwest of town, a few loads of dirt will be placed just inside the property line to form a ridge for the planting of a row of shrubbery paralleling the highway.

The National Rubber Machinery Co. is giving the shrubbery along the west side of its parking lot.

Complaints of an incinerator burning garbage instead of waste paper in the rear of the Union bank had been brought to the attention of the bank officials, who said that if necessary they would equip it with locked doors and provide their tenants with keys.

The new High school alley between the bank property and other properties along the west side, needs attention, it was agreed, and the town will haul and spread slag for a surface if the board of education will provide the slag.

Russell Barrow, president of council, presided in the absence of Mayor K. T. Gormley, who is spending his vacation in Florida.

Women To Meet

The Women's association of the First Presbyterian church will hold its annual meeting in Westminster hall of the church this evening when reports of all officers and the treasurers of the three circles will be received. Mrs. Willard Ferrall will review the migrant book, "Grass Roots"

Mr. and Mrs. Reuben Tyson and daughter, Mrs. Willis Miller, are home from a tour of 10 states, including Arizona, where they visited their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Fish.

Drillers are down more than 100 feet with the well at the site of the new Manos theater and expect to have it completed in a day or so. A power shovel will move in immediately after the drillers leave.

Marilyn Vaughn, 12-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Vaughn of Toronto, formerly of Columbiana, who was in a serious condition following a recent surgical operation, is somewhat improved, but will return soon to a Wheeling hospital for a second operation.

MISSING FROM SCHOOL—The puzzling disappearance of Dorothy Jennings, 16-year-old daughter of a Cincinnati executive, baffled police as her mother, Mrs. Ralph H. Jennings, made a radio appeal for her to come home, on the chance that she might have run away. The girl was last seen boarding a street car near Miss Doherty's college preparatory school in Cincinnati. Mrs. Jennings is afraid her daughter has met with foul play.

FOUND NOT GUILTY

LISBON, Nov. 17 — Charles Michalak of New Waterford was found not guilty of assault and battery by a jury in common pleas court late Wednesday afternoon. Two days of trial were climaxed in which it was charged Michalak had beaten Evan Thomas during a rooming house argument in that village last May 20.

Church Speaker Says Faith Hurts Communism

"Faith strengthens resistance to Communism, that's why we should push our missionary work to the 'nth degree," Mrs. J. C. Pottorf told members of the Christian church Women's council at a meeting Wednesday evening in the church.

Using for her theme, "The Urgency of the Times," Mrs. Pottorf pointed out that there is one thing more powerful than the atom, that is human souls. "These we must free the world over," she said.

"It is acknowledged that material progress is ahead of spiritusl progress. Our job as Christian women is not to slow up the material, but to greatly speed up the spiritual," she said.

Explains Organization

"We are beginning to organize at the top rather than at the bottom, to gain Christian unity," she avers.

Mrs. Pottorf told the women some things which she feels will help bring about the kind of a world Christians want.

A few of her suggestions are:

"Women must be well read and exercise the franchise of voting to improve social conditions. They must support the United Nations until something better is presented and must place more emphasis on mission work."

Introduces Speaker

Mrs. E. S. Scott introduced Mrs. Pottorf, who is president of the Salem council of church women. A group of women from the Wellsville Christian church attended.

Mrs. Lloyd Marshall conducted the worship period, including a talk on "Thanksgiving," a vocal solo, "Song of Thanksgiving," by Mrs. George Adams, with Mrs. Glenn L. Davis as the accompanist, and a prayer interspersed with music.

Mrs. Herbert Yengling contributed two vocal solos, "In A Little Old Garden" and "Three Little Chestnuts." Mrs. Davis was the accompanist.

The buffet table was beautifully appointed in a Thanksgiving theme for refreshments served by members of the Esther circle.

U.C.T. Council Meeting Is Attended By 50 Members

Approximately 50 members attended a meeting of Salem council, United Commercial Travelers, in the Memorial building Wednesday evening. Senior Counselor C. Raymond Reich presided.

Warren council degree performed the initiation ceremony for 15 candidates, nine from Salem and six from Warren.

Grand Junior Counselor G. C. VanOrsdel of Warren welcomed the new members.

Wives of the members met in the lounge and made tentative plans for forming a ladies club and planned future social events. Mrs. VanOrsdel explained the work of these groups in other cities that she has visited.

Gives Talk

Following the initiation, the two groups convened to hear a talk by William Wagoner on Boys Village. Wagoner spent a day recently at Boys Village as a representative of the Ohio Junior Chamber of Commerce.

The Grand Council of Ohio, United Commercial Travelers, last June voted to build a cottage at Boys Village, while the Ohio State Jaycee organization has this project under consideration now. William Wagoner is chairman of the Youth Welfare for Salem council and in charge of the local drive to raise funds here.

Refreshments were served by a committee composed of Mrs. Robert Baughman, Mrs. Louis Moushey and Mrs. Raymond Reich.

Mr. and Mrs. Castora received lovely gifts, flowers, telegrams and greeting cards.

They are the parents of three children, Philip, who is attending school in Canada, and Mary Ann and David at home.

Household Hints

To make Rosy Red Apples add red coloring to the syrup in which the apples are to be cooked; turn the apples frequently to they'll be evenly colored. Serve with thin cream for dessert.

Diced cooked yellow turnips are delicious when mashed with butter or margarine, seasoned with salt and pepper, and mixed with grated American cheese.

Leftover vegetables may be pureed and combined with a thin white sauce for a nutritious soup. Use two cups of the vegetable puree to three cups of the thin white sauce and season with salt, freshtly ground pepper, and a little onion juice.

Stewed apricots make a good cake filling when they are mashed, sweetened and thickened with cornstarch.

Sweet potatoes offer lots of nourishment for dinner menus. They are rich sources of vitamin and furnish worthwhile quantities of vitamin C. They also contribute small amounts of the B vitamins and minerals.

"WRIST WATCH" — Time hangs heavy on the hand of Laura Barone of Elgin, Ill., who finds this giant, jewel-studded timepiece about all she can carry. A local watchmaker designed the big watch, fitting it with precision movement and outsize band.

VICKS VA-TRO-NOL

By EPSIE KINARD
NEA Fashion Writer

NEW YORK—One of France's biggest dressmakers has arrived in the U. S. to buy American fashions, putting a reverse twist on the traditional idea that France dictates fashion to the rest of the world. He is Molyneaux, dressmaker to Britain's Princess Margaret. He is enroute to California to buy 25 models of "America's best sports, play and resort clothes to take home and copy." Molyneaux said in New York: "I'm looking for typically American play clothes, not influenced by Paris. The U. S. makes the best play clothes in the world." The models Molyneaux will buy will be ready-to-wear items. He will "copy up" these designs into custom clothes for his well-heeled customers. He admitted this was a new twist to the Americans coming to Paris to "copy down" designs of the Haute Couture for American budget buyers. Here are two California fashions typical of those Molyneaux will examine. Insert, Molyneaux.

12 Ministers Attend County CROP Meeting

LISBON, Nov. 17 — Twelve rural ministers of Columbiana county attended a meeting of the Christian Rural Overseas Program in the city hall here Wednesday morning.

The meeting was in charge of Rev. James Wyker of Mount Vernon, director of the state CROP, assisted by county extension agent, Floyd Lower.

Another meeting was called for 10 a. m. Nov. 22 in the city hall, at which the Farm bureau, granges and all rural organizations are asked to send a representative. The county organization will be completed and plans made for the group's program.

For a quick dessert cut plain cake in cubes and put about a third of them in a serving dish, dot with jelly; add another layer of the cake and dot with more jelly. Top with the remaining cake cubes and pour chilled custard sauce over the whole thing. Garnish with whipped cream if desired.

Potato water should be saved to use in sauces and gravies, since it contains valuable nutrients.

Texas Oil Fields Yield $3 Billion

DALLAS, Tex. — (UP) — One-fifth of all the energy utilized in the United States originates in the vast oil fields of Texas.

Constant demand for petroleum for powering vehicles, heating homes and fueling generating plants has given the nation's largest state a fabulous market for its "showcases" of oil and natural gas.

The Texas Mid-Continent Oil and Gas Association reported that petroleum production and refining yields more than $3,000,000,000 a year for the state's economy.

In 1948, the annual flow was 903,000,000 barrels. During the year, 89 Texas refineries processed 599,496,000 barrels of crude oil, bringing $185,000,000 in wages and salaries to 45,000 oil workers.

The booming oil and gas industry continues to bring wealth to landowners.

Texas royalty owners received $354,000,000 from oil and gas operators, while landowners pocketed $80,000,000 for leases and bonuses.

There was a slackening of demand for crude oil in 1949 because of mild winters in the north which always has been a great market for Texas fuel, but production started picking up again as the industry entered the final quarter of 1949.

Successive cuts were made in Texas allowable oil withdrawals by the all-powerful Texas Railroad Commission which uses strict conservation laws to keep production in line with demand.

Parts of the cuts have been restored, however. Production from new wells was added to proration schedules, permitting two increases in allowables.

On Sept. 17, Texas wells were pumping 1,983,350 barrels of crude oil daily. During December, 1948, when the flow reached an all-time high, production averaged 2,552,800 barrels a day.

Production increase in 1948 was 10.1 per cent greater than 1947 and it was believed that the output of crude oil would move up during 1950.

Admits Killing; Find Body In Lake

CANTON, Nov. 17 — (AP) — Canton authorities today jailed a 55-year-old man who admits slugging George L. Neidig to death, then dumping his heavily weighted body in Senacaville lake.

But the prisoner, Earl O. Blackledge of Canton, insisted he killed Neidig in self defense during an argument, Stark Sheriff Harry W. Grossglaus announced.

Under Blackledge's direction, sheriff's deputies recovered Neidig's body from the southern tip of the Noble county lake last night. It was bound with an old chain and tied to a mine car wheel in about 10 feet of water. The lake is about 50 miles south of Canton.

Blackledge, accompanied by his three sons, appeared voluntarily at the Canton police station yesterday afternoon. Grossglaus said he told this story before guiding them to the body:

On Monday night, he and Neidig, who was about 33, drove to a coal mine three-quarters of a mile from Robertsville (Stark county) to get coal after a night of drinking.

After alighting from the car, Neidig approached him in the dark and warned: "This is a good time to finish you off." Blackledge grabbed a hammer from the car and struck him.

Then he drove over out-of-the-way country roads in search of a place to conceal the body, stopping at Senecaville lake. Neidig's head had five wounds that fractured the skull, Noble county coroner Jack Berry reported.

Seminole Indians Relearn Lost Art

AP Newsfeatures

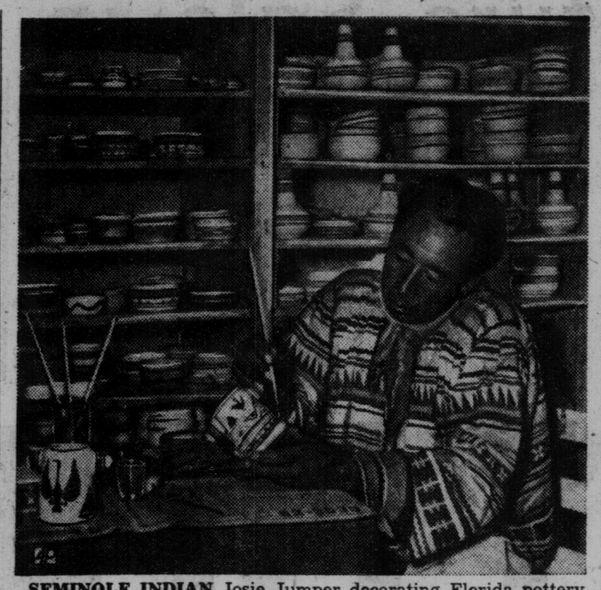
MIAMI, Fla.—Seminole Indians are being re-taught their lost art of pottery making. A paleface, Vernon Lamme, is their instructor.

Florida's Seminoles came originally from the great Creek nation of Alabama and Georgia. In early colonial days, when English Georgia frequently fought Spanish Florida, the Creeks became divided. Some wanted to join the English against the Spanish, while others declared the Spaniards were their allies. Those Creeks who favored the Spanish broke away and came to Florida.

The name "Seminole" means, in the Creek tongue, "the breakaways" or "runaways."

Creek Indians made handsome pottery ware. But the Seminoles found no clay in South Florida suitable for firing. They used sea shells and gourds for utensils. Pottery making became a lost art to them.

Lamme decided that the Indians could attain an additional source of income if they returned to pottery making. With Mrs. Lamme, he first interested Josie Jumper, a Seminole living on the nearby Dania reservation, who became his principal assistant.



SEMINOLE INDIAN Josie Jumper decorating Florida pottery.

Men and women, young and old, took up the art. They are taught to mold, fire and glaze, but designing is left up to the Indians' natural talent. Clay is shipped in.

Now the Indian handiwork is being sold to tourists, and some is being sent to northern markets.

Plastic surgery was practiced by the ancient Egyptians.

Cup of Generosity

British People Honor American Woman Who Hasn't Stopped Giving for 34 Years

LONDON—(NEA) — The big silver cup on Mrs. Warren Pearl's desk in London bears the simple legend: "To a great American—from the British People."

It was presented the white-haired, gentle-faced woman as high tribute to a foreigner by Royal Princess Marie Louise—tribute for generosity that began in 1915 and will go on, Mrs. Pearl says, "even when they have to wheel me around in a bath-chair."

Her generosity is not confined to England alone. Now 69, Mrs. Pearl was doing charity work in the slums of New York before she was 20.

Today she is connected with more than 240 charitable organizations, about 100 of them in the U. S. Friends estimate the money she has spent on the needy runs into the millions, although only she and her bank manager know the exact figure. And she has helped raise millions more.

In 1915, Mrs. Pearl and her husband, a one-time U. S. embassy official in London, were on the Lusitania when it was torpedoed. Two sons were lost in the disaster, and she came back to England determined to dedicate her time and money to needy children. Although she had planned to stay only five years, Mrs. Pearl has been in England ever since, except for annual visits to New York.

"I am lucky," she says. "I was born with money and a social position. But ever since that fateful day in 1915, I have known somehow that unless I could share my happiness with those less privileged, I would get little satisfaction in my life."

During World War I she financed and organized a 100-truck Civil ambulance outfit. Between the two wars she became famous in London society for the parties she organized for charities.

During World War II tragedy struck again. Her son Duncan, a pilot officer with the R.A.F., was killed in action over Britain. That second disaster only seemed to have spurred further activity, directed specially for war orphans and widows. She spent three hours daily packing parcels for prisoners of war. She made daily visits to hospitals, bringing gifts to the wounded, providing taxis for soldiers going home on convalescent leave. But she seldom left clues to her identity.

"Over the years I have given cinema shows, balls, parties and tried dozens of ways of raising money for the poor," she says. "I suppose I have a gift that way, maybe it's because I have kissed the Blarney stone.

"I am still an American," she adds with emphasis. "But I love England, and am in the lucky position to have roots both here and in America where I have a married daughter." She also has another son now a practicing lawyer in London.

"Most charity organizations have become used to appealing to me for funds, and most of my friends have become used to my appealing to them," she admits. "I don't know how much I have raised, but I know it's not enough."

Her generosity is not confined to England alone. Now 69, Mrs. Pearl was doing charity work in the slums of New York before she was 20. She herself does not play bridge, but she will see to it that within a week of the party a check of more than 1000 pounds ($2800) will go to some charity organization.

Letters To The Editor

On Ballot Riders

Editor, The News:

A few nights before election your paper ran an editorial encouraging the voters to vote for the office type ballot in order to eliminate "coat-tail-riding."

I can't resist the temptation to answer your Tuesday night's editorial under the heading "unearned votes," in which you point out the danger of "name voting" and how the communists rolled up 57,000 votes in Cleveland for the school board. Your editorial pointed out that in a race of two unknowns that the one with a well known name would win.

A few years ago a fellow by the name of "Herbert Hoover" (not President Hoover) ran for Lt. Gov. of Ohio on the Republican ticket and almost won. Another recent case was a boy who just passed his bar examination and filed for the Supreme Court of Ohio. His name was "Judge McBride." He won the nomination because most people thought they were voting for that famous jurist "William McBride." If it had not been for the combined efforts of both parties, the bar association and the newspapers this boy would have been elected to the highest tribunal in Ohio.

The office type ballot which Ohio voters adopted at the last election and which your editorials endorsed, is exactly the same type of ballot as used for school boards. This is the kind of ballot Gus Hall's candidate appeared upon and which gave him 57,000 votes. It's the same kind of ballot which nominated McBride and Hoover.

We had so many people in Ohio changing their names, that a few years ago the legislature had to pass a law requiring the election board to print "both names" on the ballot, if the person had changed his name within the last ten years.

Possibly Mr. Bender and the newspapers got rid of "coat-tail-riding." But what are you going to do about "name riding." Are we going to elect communists whose name might be Herbert Hoover or Franklin D. Roosevelt?

Ben Barrett's 1949 Quakers Almost Equal Offensively To '47 Squad, Losing Only One

By BOB DIXON

A passing attack that doubled the aerial yardage of the 1948 team, boosted Salem High's offensive figure to a net of 2,643 this season, 200 more yards than the 1948 aggregation could compile.

The '49 statistical survey revealed that Ben Barrett's latest squad was almost the equal, offensively, to his 1947 team, which lost but one game. That eleven rolled up 2,721 yards.

Individually, however, the Red and Black didn't have a ground gainer of Walt Ehrhart's status. Ehrhart rolled up 694 yards in 1948.

George Reash, team captain, paced this year's team with a net gain of 433 yards. He also shared scoring honors with Lige Alexander, both tallying 48 points.

Reash rambled for eight touchdowns, while Alexander had six TD's and 12 extra point conversions. Bobby Theiss and Jim Ference ranked third and fourth in the scoring column, each with 18.

The Quakers racked up 28 touchdowns and 14 extra points this season for a 182 total. That exceeded the '48 total of 172. Of the 28 scores, nine were contributed by the passing arm of Jimmy Callahan. Jim also scored one other touchdown himself and passed or one extra point. His passing average was a tidy 51.7 per cent, on 60 completions in 116 throws.

In all, the Quakers attempted 126 passes, completing 64. A year ago, Barrett's team tried only 69 passes, connecting on 20. The yards gained were 908 to a mere 429.

Salem showed a decided edge over their opponents in each phase of the statistical chart, excepting the "fumble" column. The Salemites lost the ball 16 times on fumbles this year.

Ohio State Eleven Preps For The Big Game

14 Juniors On Salem High Cage Varsity

George Reash Only Senior; Four Letter Winners Back

With a nucleus of four lettermen back from 1948, Coach Bob Miller this week because basketball workouts at Salem High in preparation of the opening game with Lisbon on Dec. 6.

Returning from last year's team, which won seven out of 20 games, are Juniors Jim Callahan, Bob Theiss, Don Abrams and Senior George Reash. The latter is the only Senior on the entire squad—a factor that looks good for next season.

Reash, Theiss and Callahan have been regulars on the Quaker football squad and are taking things slow this week. The others who comprise the balance of Miller's 15-man tentative varsity squad include:

Bob Bush, Bob Coy, Tom Pastier, Jim Hurlburt, Jim Cosgarea, Skip Greenisen, Jack Haldeman, Tom Judge, Tom Trebilcock, John Votaw and Phil Hunter.

Of that group Miller has at least five boys who are six feet tall or better. Callahan, Bush, Abrams, Judge and Hunter belong in that category. Most of the group is around the 5-10 to 5-11 mark.

Miller said today that "any of the 15 boys may be kept for the varsity." He pointed out that the entire group will be used as a varsity squad, if they all measure up to varsity standards.

Working out along with the varsity this week are several members of last year's Freshman team, who will form the hub of this year's reserve squad. The Frosh team, not yet formed, will again be coached by Frank Tarr.

You Still Can't Get Any Tickets

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Nov. 17—(AP)—More people can't get tickets for the Army-Navy football game this year than couldn't get them ever before.

You may have the $6 asking price, but you have to know more than a friend of a friend to lay hands on a ticket.

The "demand is greater than I ever recall," a Navy spokesman said today.

Annapolis officers said they understood West Point is gasping under the same deluge.

"This appears to contradict the economic cycle," the Navy source declared. He thought people these days weren't supposed to be going around spending $6 to see a football game.

The game will be played Nov. 26 in Philadelphia's cavernous Municipal stadium, which holds 102,000 fans. The "ticket capacity," after deducting concessionaires, guards, ushers, sports writers and photographers, is about 99,000.

President Truman and members of Congress are in the happiest spot of all. Every year the President has an allotment "which he purchases," the Naval academy explained in a notice to disappointed thousands. Both West Point and Annapolis provide each senator and representative with eight basteboards, as long as he fills out a form and encloses the money.

Midshipmen and cadets are entitled to four. So are alumni members of the respective athletic associations.

Requests piled in early—enough to ballast a battleship. So many entries came from the fleet that humble plebes heard they were going to be slashed to a pair apiece. The Academy chose another method.

Any dues-paying member of the Athletic association who applied for his limit "for personal use" got all four. But the benighted who marked their application for "use of others" were promptly cut to two.

"We're Ready", Says Fesler; Will Rely On Sophomores

COLUMBUS, Nov. 17—(AP)—Ohio State's steamed-up gridders planned one last stiff workout today before they take off Friday morning in the direction of Ann Arbor for their Big Ten title game Saturday with Michigan.

Today's drill won't be the last before the crucial contest, though. The Bucks will travel northward only as far as Toledo Friday, have an afternoon workout in Toledo that afternoon, and move into Ann Arbor Saturday morning.

Team morale was nearing a peak yesterday. Ohio veterans were thirsting for a victory over the Wolverines after four long, arid years. Sophomores, too, caught the fever.

And all evidence points to Sophomores playing a more prominent role in the Michigan game than in any previous Buck game this fall.

Vic Janowicz and Ray Hamilton, star Sophomore halfbacks, are definite starters. And in anticipation of encountering the toughest defense met this year, the Ohio coaching staff has added new plays stressing the speed and versatility of both.

In addition to the two backs, End Ralph Armstrong and tackle-guard, Julius Wittman, also sophomores, are expected to see important service Saturday.

Jack Jennings, giant veteran tackle and a mainstay of the defensive line, returned yesterday for the second straight day of duty at his regular post. That indicates improvement in the back injury he suffered in the Illinois game. But, as a precautionary measure, Wittman is ready to spell Jennings if necessary Saturday.

Veteran Halfback Jimmy Clark is expected to watch the game from the sidelines Saturday because of a knee injury.

Dick Schnittker, basketball great turned gridder, is due to claim the starting spot at offensive left end.

Jack Lininger, one of the top centers in the nation according to the weekly Associated Press poll released yesterday, will be one of the few Bucks to come near a 60-minute mark Saturday. In addition to being a top-flight center, he is a first-rate linebacker.

Coach Wesley Fesler said only one starting spot remains uncertain. Jim Thomas is a cinch to start at right guard on defense. But on the left side of the line, it will be a choice between Wittman, George Mattey and Bill Miller.

A smiling Fesler, obviously pleased with his charges' progress physically and mentally, observed at the end of yesterday's workout

"I think we're ready for them."

Barons Continue Wining Ways

By The Associated Press

The Cleveland Barons, who have scored more goals and allowed less than any other team in the American Hockey league, seem intent on making a runaway of the Western division race.

Playing their eighth straight game without a loss, the powerful Ohioans last night sailed through the Cincinnati Mohawks, cellar-dwellers in the same circuit, 8-2. Cleveland has now scored 71 goals to their opponents' 37.

The victors rolled up a 6-0 advantage, including Roy Kelly's three goals, before the Mohawks scored late in the second period.

Also starring for the Barons was Les Douglas, who added to his bid for individual scoring honors in the league with two goals and three assists.

Charles (Bus) Gagnon, defenseman for the visiting Mohawks, was the central figure in some third period roughhousing which resulted in the 22-year-old player drawing two five-minute major penalties, a 10-minute misconduct and a $25 fine. He fought bare knuckles with Cleveland's Harry Taylor and Dan Sprout.

Taylor needed five stitches in a cut over an eye but returned to the game and finished.

The Barons now have 12 victories, two losses and one tie.

Providence's Rhode Island Reds, Eastern division leaders, edged the Indianapolis Capitals, 4-3, on home ice.

In the only other league game, Pittsburgh romped to a 7-2 verdict over Springfield on the losers' rink.

Touch Football Card Doubled This Week

Because of inclement weather last Sunday, a doubleheader will be played in the Touch Football league Sunday at the Junior High practice field.

First-round champs, Millville Beavers, will tangle with the Western Stars at 1 p. m. and the winner will play The Salem News at 3:30.

Should the Beavers win both games they will become the league champions. If one of the other teams win both games it will be second round champ and will play the Beavers in the so-called Cemetery Bowl the following Sunday for the title.

Wins Award

A dove in flight and a sprig of holly are featured on the 1949 Christmas seal, which won first award in a competition sponsored by the Society of Illustrators in art schools throughout the country. The seal was drawn by Herbert Myers of Leonia, N. J.

Asked about the inspiration for the seal design. Dr. Beaver said that Myers, a German refugee and combat veteran, associated the drive with the dove, the symbol of peace.

The Christmas seal was introduced in 1904 when Einar Holboell, Danish postal clerk, organized a seal sale in Denmark. The idea was imported to this country in 1907 with a seal sale in Wilmington, Del. Today, seals are sold in 29 countries to raise funds for tuberculosis control work.

Requirements, Pay Raised For Army

Changes in enlistment physical and mental qualifications and a pay raise are now in effect, according to M/Sgt. Archie Hatfield, local Army and Air Force recruiting officer.

A score of 90 is required in the General Classification Test for enlistment in the Army. Physical profiles A and B are necessary for enlistment since the first of the month.

Earlier a test score of 80 and profiles A, B and C were acceptable. The Army offers two, three, four, five and six-year enlistments.

The GCT score for the Air Force has been raised from 90 to 100, with a minimum enlistment of four years. This applies to former Army, Navy, Marine and Coast Guard personnel, as well as those without military service.

Since airmen who do not enlist within 30 days of discharge are treated as original enlistees, the new ruling applies to them also. The only exceptions are those discharged prior to Sept. 1 of this year. They have 90 days in which to re-enlist for three to six years under the former system. The new ruling permits four, five and six-year enlistments only.

Women may apply for enlistment in the regular Army or the Air Force, if they meet the requirements. They must be single, between the ages of 18 and 34, high school graduates and have no dependents. Women who are from 18 to 21 years old must have their parents' consent to enlist in either of the services.

Further information may be obtained at the recruiting station in the postoffice. Applications for enlistments in the Army and Air Force are available here as well as information concerning officers in aviation, navigation and Air Force officers candidate school.

court injunction against a strike.

Officials have indicated that Mr. Truman may propose the special fact-finding board first. If this is rejected, he then would invoke the Taft-Hartley emergency provisions next Monday.

The six-month old coal dispute was put in the President's hands yesterday. Cyrus S. Ching, federal mediation service chief, reported to the White House there seemed to be little use in trying to further get Lewis and the operators to agree on a compromise.

Lewis has asked for more wages and shorter hours for miners. He also wants a boost in the present 20-cents-a-ton royalty on coal production which goes to finance his union's welfare fund. The fund pays for miners' pension and insurance benefits.

Coal operators have refused to boost their labor costs.

SALES TAX GAIN

COLUMBUS, Nov. 17—Collections of prepaid tax receipts for the week ending Nov. 5 totaled $2,543,865, as compared to the $2,455,510 for the corresponding period in 1948, State Treasurer Don H. Ebright announced today.

Weather 'Remarkable' Weatherman Claims

Although no parts of Ohio are in for any sharp changes in the temperature today, the short drops and rises of the thermometer this month were described by the weatherman as "remarkable."

"In the past," State Forecaster Milton Davis explained, "November has been our stormiest month."

Still, he added, the biggest snow storm we had last winter hit us on March 10 and 11 when seven and a half inches of the white stuff covered Cleveland.

Slight snowfall in Salem today accounted for .09 inch of precipitation. The low was 30 degrees.

It will remain cloudy and cool in most of the state, the weatherman said. The lowest tonight will be between 30 and 35 degrees.

Tomorrow the temperatures will again move around the high forties for most of the state.

'Chair Swindle' Probe Results In 2 Arrests

WARREN, Nov. 17—Seven funeral directors here and in Niles who have lost 192 chairs recently hoped the arrest of two Girard youngsters would help them get back their property.

The "chair swindle," as described by Detective Sgt. John N. Lepola, was worked by tricksters who gave phony names and addresses and borrowed chairs on the pretext they needed them for a club meeting. Then, he said, they would remove the names from the backs of the chairs and sell them.

Barkley Wedding Recalls Other High Officialdom Ceremonies

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17—(INS)—Vice President Barkley and comely Mrs. Jane Hadley have chosen a wedding date which by happy coincidence is historic—vice-presidentially speaking.

The "Veep" will be the first Vice President ever to assume the bonds of matrimony while in office but another vice presidential wedding took place on Nov. 18, 1868.

On that Autumn day 81 years ago, Schuyler Colfax, then Vice President-elect, the running-mate of Ulysses S. Grant, was married to the renowned beauty, Ellen Wade.

The bride was a niece of Gen. Benjamin Wade, who oddly enough had himself been a vice presidential aspirant. Colfax and Grant did not take office until March 4, 1869.

Three Presidents Did It

Although Mr. Barkley is the first vice president to be married while in office, three Presidents of the United States have turned briefly from the cares of state to heed the chimes of wedding bells. They were:

President John Tyler, then a 55-year-old widower, who married Julia Gardner, 20, in New York City on June 26, 1844. Tyler's first wife, Letitia, died in the White House in 1842.

President Grover Cleveland, who married Miss Frances Folsom on June 2, 1886, in the first White House wedding of a chief executive. The bride was 22 and the President, previously unmarried, was 49.

President Woodrow Wilson, a widower of 58, who was married to Mrs. Edith Bolling Galt, wealthy Washington widow, on Dec. 18, 1915. The first Mrs. Wilson died in 1914. The Wilson-Galt wedding was solemnized in a Washington church.

As in the case of Mr. Barkley and the pretty Widow Hadley, romantic stories surrounded all of the presidential weddings.

Mr. Tyler's bride, Julia Gardner, was the daughter of a New York financier who was killed with a number of other prominent men when a gun exploded aboard the U. S. S. Princeton during a demonstration.

The President was below decks when the explosion occurred and legend has it that he escaped injury because he was reluctant to break off a conversation with the lovely Julia.

Captures Nation

The Cleveland-Folsom romance captured the nation's imagination, and as the middle-aged President walked to the altar with his exquisite young bride, every bell in Washington pealed the glad tidings, and a salute was fired at the arsenal. The Marine band, resplendent in scarlet and blue, played Mendelssohn's Wedding March.

Mr. Wilson, struggling to keep America out of war and saddened by the death of his first wife, was said by his friends to have received a new lease on life when he fell in love with the vivacious Mrs. Galt.

The courtship was complicated by the presence of Secret Service agents but even so it is said that the President was both a gallant and an ardent suitor.

The White House has been the scene of a number of weddings in addition to that of Grover Cleveland and his fair Frances.

The first wedding ceremony in the executive mansion, then known as the President's house, United Supreme Court Justice Thomas Todd and ucy Payne Washington, widow of George Steptoe Washington, on March 11, 1811. This was in the administration of President James Madison and the bridegroom was a nephew of the first lady. Dolly Madison.

Perhaps the most spectacular of all White House weddings was the marriage of 16-year-old Harriet Williams to the Russian minister, Count Bodisco, during the administration of President Martin Van Buren. After the ceremony, the President gave a glittering reception for the couple.

President's Daughter Weds

Miss Elizabeth Tyler, daughter of President Tyler and his first wife, was married in the White House in 1842 to a young Virginian listed in the history books only as "Mr. Walker." A full assemblage of cabinet members and diplomats turned out for the occasion.

The No. 1 social event of President Grant's second term took place in 1874 when the great civil war general's daughter, Miss Nellie Grant, was married to Capt. Algernon Sartoris of London.

The ceremony was held in the flower-filled east room and later a wedding breakfast was served, the menus for which were printed on white satin.

For years, the Grant-Sartoris wedding was described by society writers as one of the most brilliant in American history, but it was eclipsed by the nuptials of President Theodore Roosevelt's daughter, Alice, and Nicholas Longworth, on Feb. 17, 1906.

More than 1,000 guests were bidden to the ceremony which made the sparkling "Princess Alice" and the suave political leader man and wife.

Two daughters of President Wilson figured in White House weddings.

On Nov. 25, 1913, Miss Jessie Wilson was married to Francis B. Sayre, an attorney who later became governor-general of the Philippines.

On May 7, 1914, Miss Eleanor Wilson was married to William Gibbs McAdoo, then secretary of the treasury. The Wilson-McAdoo wedding took rank among the most impressive of all White House social events.

The latest White House marriage took place on July 30, 1942. It was a quiet ceremony uniting Harry Hopkins, the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt's trusted friend and assistant, and Mrs. Louise Macy.

Truman's Program "Revolutionary" Taft Charges

Ohio's Senator Says President Will Seek "Okay" Congress

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17 — President Truman's domestic program is "revolutionary", U. S. Senator Robert A. Taft (R.) of Ohio charges.

In a report to his constituents the senator predicted Mr. Truman intends in 1950 to ask for a congress which will "adopt the entire program, embracing all those price-fixing and other controls which he himself referred to in 1947 as police state methods".

Mr. Taft listed these "revolutionary" methods urged by Mr. Truman:

The power (in the Spence bill) to fix wages, control distribution and rationing, and "put the government into any business it desires to enter".

Control Of Farmers

Complete power (in the Brannan plan) to impose production controls on farmers, "telling them how many acres they can raise, how many hogs they can sell, how many beef cattle they can feed, how many chickens they can keep."

The power to guarantee every man a job.

Mr. Taft declared the latter could be done only if the government were given the power to "tell every man what job he shall take and at what wage."

"These three measures," he said, "would give complete control of industry, commerce, agriculture and labor."

Mr. Taft continued:

"Certainly we want better health and medical help for all; certainly we want equal rights and equal opportunities; certainly we want fair prices for farmers and consumers alike; certainly we want to improve the conditions of all working men and women.

"But as a matter of fact, the free system of America has brought the American people closer to these goals than any other nation in the history of the world.

"Why should we abandon a system which has put the American people ahead of every other people? If we can maintain liberty in this country and the methods we have pursued, there is no limit which cannot be surpassed by the American work man in the improvement of his standard of living."

The Truman program, Mr. Taft declared, can "only turn America back to stagnation and austerity".

A&P

Customers' Corner

Why will food prices go up if the anti-trust lawyers win their suit to put A&P out of business?

Here is just one of a number of reasons: We manufacture many of the quality foods we sell in our stores, such as Bokar, Red Circle and Eight o'Clock coffees, Ann Page foods, White House milk and many others. Because this saves us money we are able to pass along these savings to our customers in the form of lower prices.

The anti-trust lawyers have asked the court to order us to get rid of our manufacturing facilities, which would put an end to all these savings.

Make no mistake about it. If the anti-trust lawyers succeed in putting A&P out of business you will find your food bill is higher.

Laws Restrict Ohio Cattle Sales

A regulation, which became effective Oct. 27 limits the movement and sale of cattle in Ohio, H. S. Foust, state director of agriculture, announced recently.

Known as Regulation No. 9, it prohibits the movement and sale of cattle, 12 months of age and over, except for immediate slaughter, unless accompanied by a certificate showing a negative test for brucellosis within 30 days prior to date of the action and unless coming from an accredited herd or area.

A certificate of vaccination may also be used for cattle 12 to 24 months of age if the cattle were officially vaccinated when four to eight months old. Local veterinarians can issue the health and vaccination certificates.

Arrangements are being made to test cattle for brucellosis disease by local veterinarians at the livestock auction markets. Reactors found by the test at a livestock market are to be tagged and branded when consigned for immediate slaughter.

Cattle for immediate slaughter, except reactors, may be moved to the livestock market without restrictions.

Cattle 12 months of age or older coming to a livestock market without record of blood test or certificate of vaccination are to be considered for slaughter unless the consignor or owner states they are to be sold for other purposes, in which case they are subject to test.

CONFERENCE TO BE HELD

A county-wide rural health conference will be held in the Lisbon High school auditorium Saturday, Dec. 3, from 9:30 a. m. to 3:30 p. m. The event is sponsored by the County Medical society, the County Dental society, and the County Rural Health Council. Prominent authorities, as well as local people, will participate in the discussions.

In Russia, wheat, barley, oats, and rye are raised in areas where temperatures drop to 80 degrees below zero.

THESE LITTLE PIGS LEFT HOME—Buzzie, the pet cocker spaniel belonging to Judy Shaw, 4, of Phoenix, Ariz., yawns with sheer boredom while weaning two orphaned pigs, Inky and Stinky. The pigs came from a litter of 11, and mamma pig had accommodations for only nine. So Buzzie took over.

Beans Can Be Kept Free From Weevils

Serious infestations of weevils in stored beans can be prevented by sterilizing the seeds with heat or by fumigating them with carbon disulfide soon after they are threshed, says J. B. Sleesman, entomologist at the Ohio Agricultural Experiment Station.

Either one of these methods will kill all insects and the beans should remain insect-free indefinitely if placed in a tightly closed or sealed container.

The common method of sterilizing beans is to place them in a thin layer in an oven and subject them to a temperature of 130° to 145° F. for 30 minutes, continues Sleesman. If the beans are to be used for planting, the temperature should be raised slowly and not exceed 135° F.

Carbon disulfide is an effective fumigant where the beans can be placed in a relatively airtight container. It is used at the rate of one and one half ounces, liquid measure, to each ten cubic feet of space in the container. Place the carbon disulfide in a saucer or shallow pan set on top of the material to be fumigated.

The container should be kept tightly closed or sealed for 24 to 36 hours at a temperature of 70° F. or above. When used in this manner, it will not harm beans that are to be used for seed.

Fair Grounds Still Hum With Activity

LISBON, Nov. 17—Although the annual county fair is over, the grounds, especially in the vicinity of the horse barns, continue to hum with activity as horsemen of the county "bed-down" their horses for the winter in the large horse barn.

Approximately twenty trotters, pacers and some riders are quartered here for the winter, and, with the exception of two, the horses are all locally owned.

Until recently the men worked out their horses on the half-mile track, which has now been covered for the winter, and on Sunday afternoons large crowds are attracted to the grounds to admire the sleek horses.

For a quick luncheon dish serve canned asparagus tips on toast with a cheese sauce.

COURSE OFFERED

A milk testing course for young farmers interested in supervising Dairy Herd Improvement association work will be held at Ohio State university, Dec. 5-17. Interested persons should contact their County Extension Agents.

Aid In Handling Nut Trees Given

Numerous requests for information on how to handle seeds of nut trees for satisfactory germination have been received by the forestry department of the Ohio Agricultural Experiment Station.

In general, the seeds of walnut, butternut, chestnut, hickory, and oak should be planted in the fall soon after they have been collected.

One method of handling the seed is to stratify them in a box out-of-doors, alternating a layer of seeds with a layer of sand.

Another method which has been used successfully for small quantities is to place the seeds in a hardware cloth bag and lay the bag in a shallow trench in well-drained soil. The seeds are then covered with about two inches of soil.

The container can easily be made by folding a 3-foot piece of hardware cloth in the middle and weaving wire along the edges. The wire bag protects the seeds from rodents and permits drainage and soil aeration.

The seeds should be removed about April 1 just before they sprout, and planted about 18 in. apart in a nursery row. The seedlings may then be transferred to their permanent location after the first growing season.

Forestry Association To Dedicate Farms

The Ohio Forestry association will dedicate 14 tree farms over the state in November in reaching its goal to get one in every county by 1950.

They will also dedicate two School Forests in Licking and Lucas counties and organize two county chapters of the Ohio Forestry association in Tuscarawas and Hamilton counties.

The Bowman and Wales woodlots in Stark county, the Sanor woods in Columbiana county and the L. M. Johnson and Agnew woods in Mahoning county are all tree farms in this tri-county area.

Trumbull County Chairman Arrested

CLEVELAND, Nov. 17 — (AP) —The chairman of the Trumbull county Republican committee was lodged in jail today on a charge of collecting $3,800 in helping a Clevelander obtain a private club liquor permit in 1946.

The charge was contained in a warrant against William A. Klatt of Niles, O. Klatt was arrested at his Niles home and brought to Cleveland for a hearing in municipal court.

Only last Sunday, at a meeting in Akron, the Army and Navy union's department of Ohio asked that Klatt be discharged as national recruiting officer of the Veterans' group. It accused him of "misconduct in office."

First Prosecution

This is the first time a prosecution has been attempted in connection with the great flood of liquor permits hastily issued in the closing days of Gov. Frank J. Lausche's previous Democratic administration.

Specifically, the warrant claims that Leonard C. Fletcher, a Cleveland restaurant operator, paid Klatt $3,800 for an Army and Navy union garrison charter and a D-4 (private club) liquor permit on or about Dec. 27, 1946.

Fletcher himself swore to this in an affidavit. He was commander of the Old Sarge Garrison No. 211 at the time but voluntarily gave up the permit after two months rather than face a hearing before the board of liquor control.

To this, Klatt said when police arrived at his home: "In regards to that thing in Cleveland. I got a guy a charter and now they are trying to hook me on a liquor rap. I never turned anybody down for a favor."

Says Video Programs Lack Good Music

NEW YORK—(UP)—Composer-conductor Sigmund Romberg contends there is no good music on television programs, despite a popular demand for the classics.

"It is almost unbelievable that television has no music," he said, "You just see girls jumping up and down."

Romberg, 61, composer of many operettas and conductor of his own orchestra, is observing his 40th year in music. He said he is not in a mood to celebrate the occasion, however, because he can't watch and hear a symphony program on TV.

There have been only one or two experimental concerts on video, he said, and no such program has been planned for the fall. Radio stations still present the classics, he added, but unless TV starts presenting them too, a lot of people just will listen to phonograph records of their own choosing instead of buying TV sets.

Technical Obstacles

Romberg said technical obstacles had to be surmounted before music no longer will be "television's fifth wheel." The Federal Communications Commission has ruled, he explained, that cameras must move throughout all programs.

The variety of action which can be shown during a symphony concert is limited to flashes of the conductor, the musicians and the audience, which isn't considered sufficient.

"The FCC probably is right," Romberg added. "Something should be shown to enhance your liking of the music. Television needs someone who loves music sincerely."

Planning Needed

Perhaps, he suggested, the printed score could be shown as the orchestra plays and an arrow pointed at the passage. Or comments on the music could be printed and the audience could read and learn while it listens, he said.

Right now the problem is not too acute, Romberg added, because television is not yet on a nation-wide basis, but the industry should plan ahead for that time.

"People certainly must like music," he added. "But how long will people go on, switching their television sets from vaudeville to variety to vaudeville to a comedian to a trained dog? What will happen to the education of children?

"They have got to find a way to bring good music on, or both music and television will be retarded."

BURKHARDT'S BEER WINS OHIO CITIES' TASTE TESTS

Skill will tell! Burkhardt's Beer was the winner when hundreds of Akron men tasted the beers most popular in Akron. Burkhardt's won this taste test just as it has already won in other Ohio cities.

When Mr. McChesney made his comment, he didn't go into detail but his decision was quick. He could spot the full hops flavor of Burkhardt's. He could taste the full measure of rich barley malt used in its brewing. He could tell that it was fully aged, as a beer would have to be to win taste tests in all these Ohio cities.

Bumper Supply Of Food Ready For Holiday

Turkey Day This Year Should Mean Big Meal, Cheaper

By The Associated Press

The harvest horn of plenty is overflowing with bumper supplies of good foods this Thanksgiving time. And with a few exceptions, prices are substantially lower than a year ago.

Shoppers planning for the big feast day next week will find turkeys, cranberries, celery, and chestnuts for stuffing all plentiful and cheaper. Vegetables are abundant everywhere. And markets are groaning with other foods to round out the menu following bigger-than-average crops of apples, grapes, pears, raisins, almonds, walnuts, filberts and pecans.

This year there are even fresh strawberries and raspberries from California, available later in the season than usual in many stores across the nation. Honeydew and casaba melons, too.

The turkey crop is 29 per cent bigger this year than last, when retail prices reached an all-time high. Those high prices, combined with much lower costs for feed earlier this year, led farmers to boost their gobbler production considerably for the current season. The total is expected to reach 41,000,000 birds—second biggest turkey crop on record.

A survey of several major cities shows retail prices for turkeys in the family sized weights—around 15 pounds—selling this week at an average range of 59 to 63 cents a pound. That's about 15 cents a pound cheaper than last year. Bigger turkeys average around 54 cents.

Local marketing conditions and costs, and the manner in which the holiday birds are dressed for selling, may cause variations of several cents a pound from the overall average, of course.

Cranberries, about one-fifth more plentiful than in an average year, were retailing at 19 to 23 cents a pound this week, or about six cents below last year.

Clear Coolers

Meat dealers were clearing their coolers this week for the big pre-holiday flood of turkeys. And with trading in red meats slowing down prices were beginning to ease slightly also. However, retail price changes were narrow and irregular in most places compared with last week. Top grade eggs were up two cents a dozen in many places.

Poultry other than turkeys held about unchanged.

Coffee prices at the wholesale level took another spurt early in the week as roasters continued efforts to bring their selling prices into line with recent boosts in coffee bean quotations. The advances ranged from three to seven cents a pound—and one nationally advertised brand was hiked 13 cents in one move. Retail changes lagged well behind these wholesale increases as many stores were still selling coffee they bought at lower prices.

In New York, Markets Commissioner Anthony Masciarelli issued a statement saying an investigation by his department showed there is an adequate supply of coffee on hand. He urged the city's housewives not to buy more coffee than their normal requirements.

The Retail Food Merchants association, which says it represents 500 food merchants in New York, announced it had written President Truman asking a federal investigation of high coffee prices. Herman B. Glasser, association counsel, quoted the letter as saying the retailers have reason to believe coffee prices are "contrived and manipulated."

Lower Prices

Slightly lower prices for nearly half the foods in the Dun & Bradstreet wholesale food price index pushed the index down to $5.68 this week from $5.74 a week ago.

A year ago the index, representing the total cost at wholesale of a pound each of 31 general use foods, was at $6.37.

Higher in wholesale price this week were corn, jellies, cocoa, rice, raisins and steers.

Lower were eggs, flour, wheat, rye, oats, hams, lard, butter, sugar, cottonseed oil, beans, peanuts, potatoes, hogs and lambs.

The first fillings used for decayed teeth probably were made of lead, according to the Encyclopedia Britannica.

NOVEMBER SPECIAL—Cranberry parfait and Swedish jelly cookies use plentiful cranberries.

By GAYNOR MADDOX

With cranberries on the list of plentiful foods for November, let's seek new recipes:

Cranberry Parfait

One quart vanilla ice cream, 1 can whole cranberry sauce.

Alternate scoops of vanilla ice cream and spoonfuls of whole cranberry sauce just as it comes from the can. Top with whipped cream, if desired. Serve with Swedish jelly cookies.

Swedish Jelly Cookies
(Makes 16 to 18 cookies)

One-half cup butter or other table fat, ¼ cup sugar, 1 egg yolk, slightly beaten, 1 cup sifted all-purpose flour, 1 egg white, unbeaten, ¾ cup finely chopped nut meats, canned jellied cranberry sauce cubes.

Cream butter and add sugar gradually. Beat until light and fluffy. Add egg yolk, mix thoroughly and blend in flour. Form into balls about 1 inch in diameter. Dip in egg white, then in nuts. Place on greased cookie sheet and press flat with bottom of glass. Bake in a slow oven (300 degrees F.) for 5 minutes. Remove from oven and press center down and bake 15 minutes longer. Cool and fill center with cubes cut from slices of canned jellied cranberry sauce.

Cranberry Cubes in Pear Halves

One three-ounce package of cream cheese, ¼ cup mayonnaise, 1½ tablespoons lemon juice, 1 cup whole cranberry sauce, 2/3 cup evaporated milk, whipped, 6 ripe pears.

Whip up the cream cheese with the mayonnaise and lemon juice. Fold in the cranberry sauce and whipped evaporated milk. Pour into freezing tray and place dividers. To serve, wash, halve and core ripe pears. Place on salad greens and top with 2 cranberry cubes.

Dark Cocoa Cake

INGREDIENTS: 1½ cups sifted cake flour, 1¼ cups sugar, ½ cup cocoa, 1 teaspoon baking powder, ½ teaspoon soda, ½ teaspoon salt, ½ cup butter, margarine or vegetable shortening, 2 medium or large eggs, ½ cup boiling water, 1 teaspoon vanilla.

METHOD: Mix and sift the flour, sugar, cocoa, baking powder, soda, and salt into a large mixing bowl. Add the butter or margarine (at room temperature) or the shortening and the eggs. Stir with a wooden spoon until ingredients are mixed. Add the boiling water and the vanilla and beat 3 minutes with a rotary beater until smoothly blended, or 2 minutes with an electric mixer at high speed. Turn into a buttered 8-inch square cake pan and bake in a moderate (350F.) oven for 35 to 40 minutes. Loosen sides with a knife or spatula and turn out on cake rack, Frost as desired.

Dried Beef Potato Scramble

INGREDIENTS: Four ounces (about) dried beef, 2 tablespoons butter or margarine, 2 tablespoons flour, 1 cup milk, 1 cup cooked cubed potatoes, additional seasoning if desired.

METHOD: Tear dried beef into small pieces. Melt fat in skillet over low heat, add beef and cook, stirring frequently, for a few minutes. Sprinkle flour over beef and stir to coat thoroughly. Add milk and cook over moderate heat, stirring constantly, until thickened and bubbly. Add potatoes and reheat, stirring gently to mix well. Makes four servings.

Almond Crunch Cookies

INGREDIENTS: One tablespoon butter or margarine, ½ cup chopped roasted blanched almonds, ½ cup firmly-packed brown sugar, ½ cup shortening, ¾ cup granulated sugar, 1 egg, 2 cups sifted all-purpose flour, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 tablespoon milk, ½ teaspoon almond flavoring, 1 teaspoon vanilla.

METHOD: Melt butter or margarine in skillet; add almonds and brown sugar and place over low heat, stirring constantly, until sugar is melted. Cool thoroughly (mixture will be brittle) and crush. Cream shortening and sugar together; add egg and beat well. Blend in flour and salt alternately with milk. Stir in crushed almond mixture, almond flavoring, and vanilla. Drop by teaspoonfuls onto greased cooky sheet 2 inches apart. Flatten slightly with spatula. Bake in slow (325F.) oven for about 10 to 155 minutes. Makes about 48 cookies.

Apple and Celery Salad

INGREDIENTS: 2 tablespoons olive oil, 1 tablespoon tarragon vinegar, ½ teaspoon sugar, ½ teaspoon prepared mustard, ¼ teaspoon salt, ⅛ teaspoon paprika, 2 large Delicious apples, 2 large stalks celery, 2 tablespoons mayonnaise.

METHOD: Put the olive oil, vinegar, sugar, mustard, salt, and paprika in a medium-sized mixing or salad bowl. Wash and dry apples, cut in four, cut away cores, and dice (leaving peel on); add to dressing. Wash, dry and dice celery and add with mayonnaise; mix well. Chill if not served immediately. Makes 4 servings. Note: Serve salad on salad greens if desired.

CAA's Bright, Young Planners Seek New Way To End Air Traffic Crashes

WASHINGTON—(NEA)—Four bright young government planners have been working for a year on advances in air traffic control designed to prevent the sort of crashes and near-misses lately plaguing the Washington airport.

The steady rise in air travel and consequent overcrowding of the air lanes over busy centers has worried the Civil Aeronautics administration for a long time. It decided positive steps were needed. It set up a special committee to examine the problem and the committee wound up by naming the four-man planning team to up-date traffic control and navigation systems.

To get the bold, original thinkers desired for this job, the CAA committee tossed away fusty seniority rules and canvassed its far-flung personnel in an elaborate screening process.

Out of this careful weighing of talent came the members of the present team—Jack Hilton, Tom Dodson, Roys Jones and Simon Justman. This quartet—average age 35—was lifted from obscurity in the CAA ranks and handed one of the toughest assignments in aviation history.

* * *

HOW TOUGH can be gauged from the Nov. 1 collision that sent 55 persons to their deaths over Washington, from the close call Vice President Barkley's plane had about a week later and from the constant confusion and and danger that surrounds the regular "stacking" of aircraft over landing fields when weather is bad or traffic heavy.

The CAA's young planners know these troubles first hand. Hilton more than once sweated it out for an hour or so in the CAA control tower at Indianapolis airport, trying to bring in a lost plane that was holding up a big stack of circling planes. He was chief controller there and one of the CAA men trained in so-called Ground Controlled Approach operations.

Jones, a 20-year veteran of aviation, served as an air route traffic controller for CAA from 1941 to 1948. He began his career with private airlines, learned to fly and do a variety of other jobs, including the writing of a text on navigation. When he joined the planning team he was senior controller at St. Louis.

Dodson was working as chief communicator at the CAA's desert post in Lovelock, Nev. He felt buried there, for no promotion had been on the horizon since 1942. The new assignment was reward for his 16 years of radio operating experience in the Navy, the FCC and the CAA.

* * *

ONLY JUSTMAN was already stationed in Washington when team selections were made. As a radar engineer with training in the Air Force laboratories at Wright Field, Dayton, O., he had been brought into the CAA's communications engineering section in the capital.

AIRPORT TRAFFIC PUZZLE:—CAA planners Simon Justman, Leslie Kullenberg and Roys Jones (left to right) study a complicated model used to visualize traffic patterns over an airport.

The screening program that culled these men from 160 applicants emphasized five main qualifications. Tests or interviews were used to determine fitness for the exacting task ahead. The five traits looked for:

1. A keen sense of space relationship, a characteristic considered vital to any real grasp of how to juggle hundreds of aircraft in overburdened airlanes during the course of a typical day.

2. General intelligence, with stress on analytical powers.

3.—Broad interest in all kinds of scientific and social development, to assure that team members would be able to adapt knowledge from other fields to traffic control problems.

4. Creative thinking, to make certain that the planners would not be hamstrung by outworn ideas in their search for new solutions.

5. "Social intelligence," by which the screening committee meant the ability of a man to get along with others in working on a difficult job. Interviews were employed to measure applicants here, with the likeliest candidates being subject to severe grilling.

* * *

FROM THE EIGHT men with the highest combined scores the heads of CAA's traffic control and communications divisions picked the present four.

The team went to work in November, 1948. It is now under direction of E. R. Mehrling, who recently returned from duty in Germany as air traffic control adviser in the Berlin airlift operations of the Air Force.

One of the first major projects to engage the planners' attention is the so-called "private line." This is a proposed system calling for automatic two-way transmission of traffic control information between planes and the ground. Its goal is to assure a "position check" on each plane every 10 seconds, comparison of that position with the position of other aircraft, and relay of approval or change in a plane's flight path within 10 seconds.

If a relatively foolproof device of this sort can be developed, it may go far toward preventing repetition of mishaps like the tragic collision over the capital airport. And this is but one of the projects under study by the able CAA planning squad.

Let's Eat

By GAYNOR MADDOX

Time now to begin collecting recipes for cooler nights. Let's begin with stuffed green peppers and Brazil nut cookies.

Creole Stuffed Peppers
(Makes 6 servings)

Six medium green peppers, 1 small onion, chopped, 1 cup ground cooked ham (or ¼ pound dried beef), 3 tablespoons fat, melted, one 10½-ounce can condensed tomato soup, ½ cup cup cornmeal, 1 egg, slightly beaten.

Heat oven to 375 degrees F. (moderate). Remove seeds and tops from peppers. Combine remaining ingredients, mixing well. Stuff peppers. Place upright in greased 2-quart baking dish; add water to cover bottom of dish. Cover and bake one hour at 375 degrees F.

Quick Mix Brazil Nut Cookies
(Yield: 3 dozen cookies)

One cup sifted all-purpose flour, 1 teaspoon baking powder, ½ teaspoon salt, ½ teaspoon cinnamon, ¾ cup fat, 1¼ cups firmly-packed brown sugar, 1/3 cup milk, 2 eggs, 1 teaspoon vanilla, 3 cups rolled oats, ½ cup chocolate pieces, ¾ cup chopped Brazil nuts.

Sift together into mixing bowl flour, baking powder, salt and cinnamon. Add fat, sugar, milk, eggs and vanilla. Stir until blended. Beat 1 minute. Stir in rolled oats, chocolate pieces and Brazil nuts. Drop by teaspoonfuls on baking sheet. Bake in moderate oven (375 degrees F.) for 12 to 15 minutes.

Special Cinnamon Toast

INGREDIENTS: ¼ cup butter or margarine, 1 cup powdered sugar (finely granulated, not confectioners'), ¾ teaspoon cinnamon, ½ cup coarsely chopped walnut or pecan meats, 8 slices fresh hot toast.

METHOD: Melt the butter or margarine in a skillet or saucepan; remove from heat. Add the sugar and cinnamon and blend thoroughly. Mix in the nut meats. Spread on the toast; place under moderate broiler heat for a few minutes until mixture bubbles; watch carefully. Cut in strips or triangles and serve immediately.

Celery's strongest flavor is in its leaves—so use them in stews and in soups.

Girls Crash Men's Barracks; MP On Guard

IT'S THE ARMY, GIRLS: USO hostesses Alice Lutz (left) of Methuen, Mass. and Dorothy Bryant, Lawrence, Mass., get an earful of that 6 a. m., bugle from Pvt. Arthur Lawler.

FORT DEVENS, Mass.—(NEA)—The hardest gate for any girl to crash is the entrance to the men's barracks on a military post. For any girl, that is, except a strawberry blonde named Alice Lutz and 199 other New England young ladies.

Alice and company not only crashed the gate—they took it over. The Army bowed to femininity and put shades on the windows. a frippery unheard of in male barracks. There was also a large "Off Limits" sign and an equally large MP at the front door.

The girls were some of the new crop of USO hostesses taking over for wartime volunteers who have become "too old" for today's teen-age servicemen. And for the first time in either Army or USO history, they were getting on-the-spot training at a military post to see what Army life is like and how USO girls should behave, look, talk and dress while on duty.

• • •

The Army gave it to them straight. In four wooden barracks, unused since wartime, the 200 girls from three New England states slept on GI cots. They made up by distorted tin mirrors and bathed in the tin GI shower.

Miss Lutz, who comes from Methuen, Mass., and travels to Devens about once a week with 40 other girls from nearby Lawrence for service dances, led the group as typical junior hostess. As such, she was squired by Pvt. George Preisinger, Jr., of Pittsburgh, a 20-year-old company clerk who had been picked as the post's typical GI.

The visit was not all work. It included a football game and a harvest ball. The indoctrination courses wound up with a charm clinic and fashion show, which the GIs were allowed to witness.

Reveille was at 6 a. m., even for strawberry blondes.

TYPICAL: Alice Lutz, "Miss USO Hospitality," shares the harvest ball spotlight with Pvt. Milton Woods of Deer Park, O., during 200-girl invasion of Fort Devens, Mass.

RECIPES

By GAYNOR MADDOX

With pork prices dropping, the art of pork cookery should rise. That's why James Beard, distinguished gourmet and author of the authoritative new "Fireside Cook Book," contributes to this column the following delicious advice.

Accompaniments for Roast Pork

Pork needs something sharp to contrast with its richness. Applesauce is the accepted relish. A pleasant change is a mixture of applesauce and horseradish, either freshly grated or the prepared type, which should be drained before being combined with the applesauce. Dill pickles are pleasant with roast pork, especially pickles with garlic added.

Pan-fried Pork Chops
(Allow 1 to 2 chops per person)

In a preheated, heavy-bottomed pan place pork chops seasoned with salt, pepper, and a little basil or thyme (both of which have an affinity for pork). Add a very little olive oil to the pan as a safeguard against burning; it will lubricate the meat until the fat of the pork begins to melt.

Let the chops cook very slowly for about 15 minutes before turning. Turn and allow the chops to brown on the other side, and cook until thoroughly tender. This will take 30 to 40 minutes, depending upon the size and thickness of your chops. Serve at once.

Polish Style Pork Chops

Season loin pork chops with salt, pepper, and a little chopped fresh dill. Cook slowly in small amount of olive oil until nicely browned and cooked through. Remove to a hot platter. Pour off fat from pan, leaving 2 tablespoons. Add 1 teaspoon finely chopped dill, 1 tablespoon chopped parsley, and ½ cup sour cream, and stir until cream is just heated through. Do not let the sour cream come to a boil. Pour over the chops and serve at once with plain boiled rice and chilled applesauce.

When you use honey in cooking rub a little shortening inside the measure you are using—cup or spoon—before pouring in the honey; this way the honey will slip out easily.

Molasses deserves a place in dishes prepared for a family because it is an excellent source of iron and offers important calcium. Use it in cookies, in gingerbread, when baking apples and pears, and in flavored milk drinks.

Theaters

The Lawton story of "The Prince of Peace" shown at the Grand theatre Sunday through Wednesday, depicts the life-time goal of Rev. A. Mark Wallock, in presenting each Easter the life of Christ on the slopes of Wichita mountain, near Lawton, Okla.

The pageant was born on Easter morning, 1926, but the 200 persons attending that first service grew to a crowd of thousands through the years. The cast and production end of the pageant also grew until the giant stages stretched one-quarter of a mile across the southern slope of the Wichita mountains. This "Holy City" of the Wichitas was dedicated March 31, 1935, and in 1948 the pageant with its cast of 3000 characters was filmed on colored film.

An interesting modern story leads up to the actual pageantry in the production with star parts taken by six-year-old Ginger Prince, Forrest Taylor, Millard Coody, Ferris Taylor, Gwyn Shipman, Darlene Bridges, Maude Eburne, Willa Pearl Curtis, Ray Largay, A. S. Fisher, Hazel Lee Becker, William Ruhl and Russell Whiteman.

"The Prince of Peace" is nonsectarian and is the only religious service of any kind anywhere for which the United States government has ever set aside a financial grant.

Charley Wants To Go To Sea, But Hasn't

Hopes, However, To Make His Trip After 50 Years On Docks

NEW YORK—(AP) — Charles A. Brown's father went to sea, so did his grandfather. But Charley never made it.

He tried once, 51 years ago. He shipped as a cabin boy aboard a pig iron freighter bound from Perth Amboy, N J., to Providence, R. I. Charley got as far as Long Island but had to leave the ship because of severe seasickness.

So, for the last 50 years, Charley has worked as a porter on the Cunarr White Star liner's piers at 14th street, Manhattan. He has helped the wealthy and famous board ships from faraway places. But Brown, himself, hasn't sailed farther than Staten island.

Now 66, graying and slightly stooped, he still hopes to cross the ocean.

Take Trip

"In a few years I'll retire," he says, "and go to England. I'll go on the Queen Elizabeth and maybe I won't get sick."

The glamor traffic in ocean travel has moved up town to the docks where the Queen Mary and Queen Elizabeths berth. But Brown has his own stockpile of memories from the days when the most elegant sea travelers sailed from his piers.

He remembers the long-gowned ladies and top-hatted men who drove to the docks in hansom cabs and the brilliant champagne dinners at the midnight of sailing.

He recalls that William Jennings Bryan tipped him with a silver dollar and Mrs. Brown now wears the coin as a pin to prove it. He remembers that J. P. Morgan's secretary was always good for a $5 tip and that the financier smoked long black cigars and used the lower gangway to slip aboard unnoticed.

Brown carried bags for the Vanderbilts, Astors, Goulds and "the titled folks." He once pushed Franklin D. Roosevelt aboard in his wheel chair when the latter was governor of New York. He remembers that Roosevelt and Winston Churchill, whose bags he handled many times, were "always smiling."

There was once a featherweight champion named George Dixon who sailed for a fight in Ireland in first class style. Going, he tipped Brown $5. In Ireland he lost the fight and came back broke.

Tipped A Quarter

"But he still tipped me a quarter when he got back," Brown says. "I'll never forget it."

Brown's favorite ship was the Lusitania, which was torpedoed in 1915.

"The captain—Captain Dow, I think it was—was always wonderful to me," Brown says. He'd call me Jack Johnson and even though he was all done up in gold braid he liked to joke with me an we'd square off for a few pretended punches."

Brown remembers when the survivors of the Titanic came in abroad the Carpathia in 1912. "The dock," he says, "was full of ambulances that night. And relatives everywhere asking for their people. It was pitiful."

At the end of each working day, Brown boards a train for Sparkill, N. Y., where he and his wife raise chickens.

"But some day soon," 'he saws, "I won't get on that train. My wife will meet me here and we'll sail off ourselves."

The word "advertisement" commonly was used in Shakespeare's day to mean information of any kind.

Q's & A's

Q—What is a pearl made of?

A—It consists mainly of calcium carbonate, which is the same chemically as marble or limestone. It is deposited by the pearl oyster in layers with membranes of organic material between. It forms on the inside of the shell as mother of pearl, but when it deposits around a grain of sand or some other bit of foreign matter, it may assume the spherical form prized as a gem.

* * *

Q—At what age did Grandma Moses begin painting?

A—Mrs. Anna Mary Robertson Moses, better known as Grandma Moses, was 76 years of age when she began her art career.

* * *

Q—How does the platypus feed its young?

A—The platypus is one of only two creatures known to science which lay eggs and nourish their young with milk. The other is the Australian echidna or ant-eating porcupine.

A—A knight ranks next after a baronet. Neither dignity nor title can be transmitted to the heirs.

* * *

Q—What does a woodsman mean by the term "barber chair"?

A—In loggers' slang, a barber chair is a stump on which is left standing a slab that splintered off the tree as it fell. Generally it indicates careless felling.

* * *

Q—How did the mule deer receive its name?

A—So named because of its unusually large ears, this deer roams the wildest, roughest and most mountainous regions of the West and Southwest.

* * *

Q—What is the most prolific mammal?
